Data Coaching:
Using Data to Analyze, Plan, and Modify Instruction is valuable training for those responsible for evaluating teachers or supporting them in their practice. The 90-minute session focusing on the coaching cycle features scenarios, examples, and extension activities for use with individuals and teams. With OTES 2.0 at its core, those who complete the training are better suited to promote professional growth leading to improved instructional performance and student learning.

For your convenience, all sessions are virtual. Register today for a session that works with your busy schedule: https://bit.ly/data-coaching
